Dr. Smith Talks Cheerfully, but Appears Disturbed.

While there was some little improvement this morning in the condition of Edwin Booth, his physician, St. Clair Smith, considers that the actor's state of health is still very alarm-

Smith was met by an "Evening World " reporter as he came down from Mr. Booth's apartments in the Players' Club at 9 o'clock this morning.

The doctor had been with his patient for an hour, and had made careful notes of his condition. Asked to give an exact statement of Mr. Booth's condition Dr. Smith said:

"You may say that Mr. Booth slept continuously from 9 o'clock last night until o o'clock this morning, and when I saw him at so'clock I found him better than he has been at any time since his attack three days ago. "He has regained his power of articu-lation in a great measure and the use of his right arm, which was slightly affected by he paralysis.

"The reports that Mr. Booth was sinking last night were without foundation. I still hold to my first disgnosis of the case, that the trouble is caused by a slight hemorrhage of the brain."

of the brain."

While Dr. Smith used the words "hemorrhage of the brain," that is only another term for apoplexy.

In answer to the question, "Doctor, is this likely to be Mr. Booth's last illness?" the physician said after gaining a little time by a vigorous use of his handserchief:

"That is a hard question to answer. In fact, it is impossible to do so. Of course, he may die."

White said Glass came into his office yesterday morning, bent on laying him out. No words passed between them beyond the remark of Glass, who said: "White do you know what I am going to do with you, and right here in your office, too?"

"I turned around." said Mr. White, "and in a conciliatory tone answered that I didn't know. Then Glass struck me, and during the scuffle kept saying: "I've got him! I'll show him!"
